

Bilal Sultan is the co-founder of the La Convivencia. He is a junior at Skyline High School. From a young age, he has had a tremendous passion for social justice. As a co-founder of La Convivencia he wants to develop better relationships between people of different ethnicities and religions and resolve serious issues in our community and throughout the world. He is driven by his sense of responsibility of making the world a better place.

His primary goal is to advocate for social issues, give back to community in every way that he can, and empower the youth to realize that their age should not limit the effect of their voice.

Bilal received the President's Volunteer Service Award in 2018 for his hours of community service. He was also recognized as a New Jersey 2019 State Governor's Jefferson Honoree for Justice award for his work on behalf of La Convivencia.

When he isn't helping his community, you'll can find him participating in extracurricular activities such as Model Congress, Future Problem Solving, playing basketball, and spending time with his family, reading a book, or watching Shark Tank.
