

A Civil Engineering graduate of Princeton University, Jay worked in West Africa and Israel for 11 years before settling down in Hamilton Twp, NJ with his wife and two children.

He has worked in several roles, including the establishment and coordination of a self-help affordable housing program in West Windsor Township during the late 1990s. His professional focus in recent years has been in the field of solar energy development.

As a member of the Baha'i community of Central Jersey, Jay has served for several years as one of the coordinators for the Foster Baha'i School which serves the spiritual-educational needs of Baha'is and friends in Mercer County from nursery to adult levels. He has also served in a variety of Baha'i administrative positions.

Jay has had a long interest in learning about the various religions of the world and has taken several online courses on them.
